comprehensive data of millions of families in Pakistan. This data should be shared with provincial governments, NGO and INGOs so that various social sector projects could be launched in the country. US Embassy delegation appreciated Waseela-e-Taleem (Right to Education) Programme launched by BISP, terming it a vital Programme in education sector of the country. The delegation ensured Madame Farzana Raja of continuous US support in various projects being introduced.

Chairperson BISP while thanking US Government and USAID for their support to BISP said that it is a transparent Programme which is playing major role for the socio-economic uplift of the millions of deprived Pakistanis. Madame Farzana Raja said that BISP is one-window operation providing complete socio-economic package under one roof. By virtue of the programmes like Waseela-e-Taleem, Waseela-e-Haq (provision of micro loans of Rs. 300,000 for business) and Waseela-a-Rozgar (Demand driven vocational and technical training) BISP is empowering children and youth to become useful and self-reliant citizens of Pakistan.

Madame Farzana Raja said that Waseela-e-Taleem Programme is launched to provide free basic quality education to 3 million non-school going children of BISP beneficiary families according to MDGs of the new Millennium. She said that US Secretary General Ban Ki Moon, US Secretary of the State MS. Hillary Clinton and UN's Special Envoy on Education Mr. Gordon Brown have lauded BISP's various initiatives and termed it a revolutionary Programme in social sector of the world.

Madame Farzana Raja said that BISP has developed Data Sharing Protocols through which BISP Poverty Survey Data is being shared with provincial governments. She said that for Waseela-e-Taleem, all the provinces have been taken on board as the provision of education is collective responsibility of all stakeholders. She said that there is a need to build capacity of educational facilities, teachers and development of infrastructure and monitoring mechanism for the success of this initiative. For this she is ready to work with the provincial governments so that education can be promoted throughout Pakistan, she added.
